INTRODUCTION

REV. JOHN PIERPONT (XXV)

The first Pierpont was Sir Hugh de Pierrepont, Lord of Castle Pierrepont in the southern confines of Picardy, six miles from St. Sauveur, Normandy, in 980., whence, the chronicler tells us, the family received the name. Not finding a ferry there, Charlemagne caused a Stone Bridge to be built, giving the name Pierre-ponte to the place.

A younger son of the family, one Sir Robert Pierrepont, Knight, went from France to England in 1066. as a Commander under William the Conqueror, and was given large estates in Sussex and Suffolk. He was ancestor to Sir Henry Pierrepont, born 1545, who married Frances Cavendish, a direct descendant of William the Conqueror's daughter and the Earls of Surrey and Warwick. Their son, made Earl of Kingston in 1628., had a cousin, James Pierpont, who lived in Derbyshire and carried on trade between England and Ireland. In time the business expanded to the Colonies across the Atlantic and two of James' sons came to America, where one, the Hon. John Pierpont, who married Thankful Stowe, settled for life in 1640., buying, in 1656., three hundred acres of land in Roxbury, Mass. He was born in London, 1619., died December 7, 1682., a man of substance, and sent his eldest son James to Harvard College.

This son became the Rev. James Pierpont, one of the founders of Yale College, and lectured to the students as Professor of Moral Philosophy. He was called to the First Church of New Haven in 1685., at the age of twenty-five years, and was there provided with a stately home by his parishioners. He was father-in-law to Jonathan Edwards, who married his daughter Sarah, and was a great friend of Cotton Mather. In 1698. he, with two other ministers, conceived the idea of founding a college, and in the ensuing year ten of the principal ministers of the Colony were chosen as Trustees of the institution. It was originally established at Saybrooke but was removed to New Haven in 1716., two years after the death of Rev. James Pierpont.

One son of his, James Pierpont, who married Anna Sherman, was a tutor at Yale; and a grandson, James, who married Elizabeth Collins, of South Farms, Litchfield, was the father of Rev. John Pierpont, of Hollis Street Church, Boston, Massachusetts.

Rev. JOHN PIERPONT was born at Litchfield, South Farms, on the 6th. of April, 1785., where the first Law School in the land was founded in 1784. He graduated from Yale College in 1804., in the class with John C. Calhoun. The following year he went to Charlestown, S. C. as tutor in the family of Col. Allston, the son-in-law of Aaron Burr. In 1811. he was admitted to the Bar. In 1810. he was married to his fourth cousin, Mary Sheldon Lord, who traced her ancestry back to King Alfred, of England, along a path thickly strewn with strawberry leaves. They were married by the Rev. Lyman Beecher and lived in Litchfield for a few years. Afterwards he lived at Newburyport, Mass., where, in 1812. he wrote "The Patriot", soon after the mob in Baltimore had destroyed the office of "The Federal Republican" and murdered General Lingan.

Later he moved to Boston and opened a law office on Court Street, and there formed a lasting friendship with John Neal. With his brother-in-law, Joseph Lord, he went into a retail and jobbing dry-goods business on Court and Washington Streets. In 1815. they moved to Baltimore, where they opened a wholesale business with John Neal as an added partner. In little more than a year they failed, through being defrauded by their agents in Charleston. He paid back the last dollar he owed after many years of toil and economy. He then went to the Divinity School in Cambridge, (Harvard), and in 1819. when 34. years old, he accepted a call to Hollis Street Church, Boston. In 1825. he, with other young ministers, formed the American Unitarian Association.

Before 1825. Rev. John Pierpont had been made Chaplain of the State Senate, Trustee of the Boston Public Library and a member of the School Committee. He had also had the degree of Master of Arts conferred upon him by both Yale and Harvard Colleges.

In 1825., when Lafayette laid the corner stone to Bunker Hill Monument, Daniel Webster delivered the oration and John Pierpont wrote for the occasion his "Warren's Address before the Battle of Bunker's Hill" beginning, "Stand! The ground's your own, my braves!"

In 1836. he spent some months in Europe for his health. In October, 1838. he wrote his resignation to the Hollis Street pulpit, but his friends withheld it. Then came the "Seven years war" in the church. At the end the Council exonerated him and the Supreme Court of the churches confirmed the finding of the Council and awarded him $13,000. After that he resigned.

In 1840. he published his only collected volume of verse under the name, "Airs of Palestine and other poems". The "Airs of Palestine" was written in Baltimore, in 1816. After resigning from Hollis Street Church he went to Troy, N. Y., where he preached four years in the First Unitarian Church, returning to New England in 1849. as Pastor of the Unitarian Church at Medford, Mass.

His 80th. birthday was celebrated in Washington, April 6th.-1865. a few days before his friend Abraham Lincoln was assassinated.

Besides his well known activities in the cause of temperance and abolition of slavery, he was largely instrumental in abolishing the law of imprisonment for debt in Massachusetts.

BOARDMAN GENEALOGY

- I. WILLIAM BOREMAN, of Banbury, Oxfordshire, England.
His name is found in a Lay Subsidy list for Banbury Hundred, (a division, or circuit,) in the 16th. year of the reign of Henry VIII. (1525.) "Will. BOREMAN, Banbury, In Bonis, 40s. 7d. (his tax on goods.)" His birth and death are not recorded.
- II. THOMAS BOREMAN, "the elder", of CLAYDON, near Banbury, son of William (1), is the first of the name found in that town, and is mentioned in a Lay Subsidy list for Banbury Hundred in 1546, and is taxed £3. 0s.3d. on goods. The Parish Register of Claydon begins in 1569, ten years before the death of Thomas; hence the baptisms of his children are not to be found in it, and their names can be gathered only from his will, dated April 3.-1576, and which was proved May 2.-1580, his death occurring December 9.-1579. He appears to have been a farmer in good circumstances. His wife, named Isabell, survived him, but there is no record of her death. His children were
 1. William, married Annis, (?) buried January 10.-1612-13.
 2. Cicely, or Sisley, married John Russell, May 8.-1576.
 3. Christopher, buried October 10.-1584.
 4. John, ——— buried December 9.-1588.
 5. Thomas, the elder, married Alice; buried May 29.-1593.
 6. Thomas, the younger, married Dorothy Gregory, February 16.-1579-80.
 7. Elizabeth, married November 17.-1584, Thomas Symkins, no record of burial.
 8. Joan, may have been one of two Joan Boremans, who married respectively Humphrey Welch, November 24.-1585, and John Mason, June 10.-1585.
 9. Ann, buried January 21.-1575-6, probably quite young.

BOARDMAN.
COAT OF ARMS.

(Note,—The double dates, necessary to bring them to the new style which begins the year with January 1st. instead of April 1st.)

III. WILLIAM BOREMAN, of Claydon, grandfather of Thomas Boreman of Ipswich, Mass., baptism not recorded, married Annis ———, who died about five years before her husband and was buried May 12th.-1608. Their children had then all been married, and William afterwards made his home with his eldest son, Thomas, another son, John, perhaps living in the same house. The three remaining sons, Nicholas, William, and Christopher, do not appear in the Claydon Register, and probably settled elsewhere. The will of William was made December 12.-1610, and it was proved April 13.-1613. He was buried January 10.-1612-13, aged probably not far from 60 years. His inventory, taken on the day of his burial, indicates that he was in comfortable circumstances with an estate larger than his father's. His occupation seems to have been exclusively husbandry. His children were

1. Thomas, married Elizabeth Carter, February 2.-1595-6, buried March 9.-1627-8.
2. Nicholas,—probably removed.
3. William,—probably removed.
4. John, married Elizabeth Poley, June 25.-1593.
5. Annis, married ——— Claridge.
6. Allice, married Walter Poley, October 25.-1584; and 2nd. ——— Brown.
7. Jone, baptized May 20.-1570, married Edward Haynes, September 27.-1596.
8. Christopher, baptized January 16.-1572-3; probably removed.

IV. THOMAS BOREMAN, eldest son of William and Annis, and father of Thomas, the emigrant to Ipswich, Mass., was born about 1570. married, on February 2nd.-1595-6, Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Felix and Margaret Carter, who was born about 1575. Thomas died at about 58 years of age and was buried March 9th.-1627-8. His property considerably exceeded that of his father, William, and of his grandfather, Thomas. His widow, Elizabeth, continued to manage it until her death three years later, when at the age of 56, and in that short time the value of the property more than doubled in her competent hands. She was buried May 11.-1631. A special interest attaches to the study of the position and circumstances of this family, from the fact that their emigrant son, Thomas, was one of those honored through life in New England by the then rare title of "Mr!" The children of Thomas and Elizabeth Boreman were

1. William, baptized November 20.-1596; buried March 10.-1612-13, aged 17. years. Since he died so young the habit of naming the eldest sons alternately William and Thomas was broken and seems not to have been renewed.
2. Felix, baptized March 4.-1598-9.; settled in London.
3. THOMAS, baptized October 18.-1601; married Margaret ———, and with her, emigrated to New England and settled at Ipswich, Mass.
4. Samuel, baptized February 4.-1603-4; probably died young, not mentioned in his father's will.
5. Daniel, baptized March 21.-1605-6; unmarried and living with his brother Thomas in New England as late as December 1670.
6. John, baptized October 30.-1608.; buried September 3.-1680.
7. Joseph, baptized April 17.-1611; married ———, lived not far from London.
8. Job, baptized December 18.-1613; died an apprentice in London; buried October 1.-1632.
9. Sarah, baptized May 4.-1617. no further record.

V. THOMAS BOREMAN, the emigrant to Ipswich, Mass., was born in Claydon, baptized there October 18.-1601. Nothing has been found in English records to show where he lived just before his emigration. We infer from the fact that his mother's bequest to him in her will of 1631. was, like that of his brother Felix, in money only, that he was not then, at the age of 30., living in Claydon. He must somewhere have learned in his youth his trade of cooper. The exact date of Thomas Boreman's coming to

New England is not known. He was probably here as early as 1634, but is first found on record in March 1634-5, when he was made freeman by the General Court of Massachusetts. His first grant of land is recorded at Ipswich in 1635. "Granted to Thomas Boreman about fifty-five acres of land, x x x also a six acre lott on the northeast side the Hill by the towne, Likewise an house-lott in the Towne, upon which he has built an house, having Mr. Bartholomew on the southwest. To enjoy to him and his heirs and assigns forever." The piece of fifty-five acres is in the second entry described as, "An Island about fifty-five acres of land, meadow and upland, bounded on the north and northeast by a creek parting it and an Island belonging to John Perkins, the Elder, and on the south a' p'sell of land formerly granted to George Carr, and on the west the great creek called Labour in vayne."

To establish communication with the town a bridge was necessary, and this Thomas Boreman built. The Island was, in the third generation thereafter, the property of Thomas' grandson, Jacob Bordman, who, by deed of gift, dated June 23d. 1748, gave it to his two sons, Jacob and John. The bridge there is to this day called by his name, and the street leading to it, for the most part a country road, is named Boardman Street.

The family name of Thomas Boreman's wife, Margaret, has not been found, neither does it appear whether they were married before or after coming to New England. Judging from what can be gathered as to the ages of their children, it seems probable that their marriage took place not long before leaving England, at which time Thomas was about 33 years old and his wife no doubt considerably younger; her surviving him some seven years would indicate this. Her title of Mrs. or Mistress, implies the respectability of her family. If their family all lived to maturity, their number was not a large one for that day. It should not be forgotten that their family included also Thomas Boreman's brother Daniel, who lived to be at least 65. and who, although he makes no figure in Ipswich records, is to Thomas Boreman's descendants a most important personage, without the knowledge of whose existence they would have no certainty of their English ancestry. Particular attention should be given to a clause in Thomas Boreman's will, providing for his brother Daniel, which, in connection with a similar clause in the will of his mother, Elizabeth Boreman of Claydon, fully proves Thomas Boreman's origin.

Thomas Boreman's will, (original on file in the Probate Office in Salem,) was made December 17.-1670, when he was past his 69th. year. He made a codicil dated May 3d.-1673, and his inventory was taken on the 26th. of the same month, showing that he died in May, 1673, aged 72 years and 7 months. (It is interesting to note that his cousin, Samuel Boreman of Westfield, Conn., fourteen years younger, had died in April, about one month before.) Mrs. Margaret Boreman, the widow, died November 25th.-1679. (Essex Co. Records, Salem.)

It should here be noted that a gradual change in the spelling of the name took place about this time. The will of Thomas shows, in his signature, that he spelled his name BORMAN, leaving out the E in the middle. His widow also spells her name BORMAN in her will, but letters from friends spell it either Boreman or Bourman, while the street, bridge, and Island, named for him, are BOARDMAN. Children of Thomas and Margaret were

1. Mary, married Robert Kinsman, Jr., born 1629.
2. Daniel, married April 12.-1662, Hannah, daughter of Richard and Alice Hutchinson of Salem, born January 20.-1639, died in Topsfield, April 27.-1708.
3. Martha, married July 4.-1660, Deacon Thomas Low.
4. THOMAS, born 1643, married January 1.-1667-8, Elizabeth, daughter of Sargt. Jacob Perkins, born April 1.-1650. He died October 3.-1719, in his 76th year. His wife died December 4.-1718, aged 68 years 8. mos. 3. da. Gravestone in Ipswich.
5. Joanna, married January 29.-1672, Isaac Fellows. She was born in 1635, and died March 20.-1732, in her 86th. year.

VI. The children of THOMAS and ELIZABETH were

1. Thomas, born August 8.-1669, married Sarah Langley.
2. Jacob, born June 10.-1671; married Martha, widow of John Rogers, in 1699.
3. John, born March 18.-1672, no further record.
4. OFFIN, born December 3.-1676, married Sarah Heard, February 28.-1698.
5. Margaret, born April.-1681, married Thomas Burnham,-1703.
6. Elizabeth, born November 9.-1686, married Jedediah Tittcomb,-1717.

VII. OFFIN BORDMAN, (No. 4. above,) of Salisbury, Inn-keeper, married Sarah Heard, February 28.-1698. Two children are recorded to them in Ipswich, Offin and Nathaniel. The will of this Offin, made January 1747, proved April 2.-1750, mentions Judith "my now loving wife," and grandsons Offin, Thomas, Jacob, John, Jonathan, and grand-daughter Elizabeth Pearson, children of son Offin, deceased; also grandchildren Amos, Stephen, John, Sarah, and Elizabeth Coffin, orphan children of his daughter, Sarah Coffin.

VIII. OFFIN BOARDMAN, born December 16.-1698; married Sarah Woodman. He was Master of a vessel, which, in going from Casco Bay to Boston with a cargo of rafts at her stern, was overset, September-1735, and he with twelve others were drowned! (History of Newbury.) His children were †Offin, Elizabeth (married John Pearson in 1748.) Thomas, John, Jacob and Jonathan, as mentioned by his father. His widow married Stephen Wyatt.

IX. *JONATHAN BOARDMAN, born March 15.-1735, married in Newbury, March 12.-1761, Rebecca Moody. Their descendants are living in Calais, Maine, and Macon, Ga., and elsewhere. The old Bible belonging to Jonathan has these entries, without names, but evidently relating to Offin and his wife, Sarah, afterwards wife of Stephen Wyatt:—

"Sept. 8,-1735, my honored father departed this life."

"July 12,-1752, my honored mother departed this life."

The foregoing facts are taken from the "BOARDMAN GENEALOGY", 1525-1895, compiled by Charlotte Goldthwaite, and published by William F. J. Boardman, at Hartford, Conn., Press of the Case, Lockwood & Brainard Company, in 1895.

The sincere gratitude of the entire Boardman family is due Mr. William F. J. Boardman and Mrs. Charlotte Goldthwaite, for the prodigious labor intelligently exerted, the great length of time and large amount of money expended in procuring the data and publishing these facts in such a complete and satisfactory manner. Mrs. Goldthwaite's co-operation in compiling them so attractively is deserving of high commendation.

Mr. Boardman, being more directly interested in that branch of the family descending from Samuel Boreman of Wethersfield, Conn., naturally did not prolong the investigation among those descending from Thomas Boreman, of Ipswich, Mass., farther than this point; but he indicates the direction in which inquiries should be made, and leaves comparatively little for those to do whom may desire to pursue the subject farther.

*Jonathan Boardman, in the History of Newburyport, folio 124, is mentioned as one of the founders of King Cyrus Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, in 1790.

(†) Captain OFFIN BOARDMAN, Commissioned December 11.-1775, Commander of the privateer Washington.

On January 15.-1776. the brig "Sukey", of 90. tons, laden with provisions, coal, &c., was brought into Newburyport by the "Washington"; and the same day the ship "Friends", of 200. tons, was captured by a crew of 17. men in three whale-boats, under command of Captain Boardman. She was sighted in the offing, flying the English colors, uncertain what course to steer, having mistaken Ipswich Bay for Boston harbor. Led by Captain Boardman, and assisted by the outgoing tide, the three boats soon came within speaking distance of the ship. "Where are you from and where bound?" hailed Boardman. "From London and bound for Boston", came the prompt reply. "Want a pilot?", asked Captain Boardman. Receiving an affirmative reply, he offered to serve in that capacity, and was soon standing on the ship's quarter-deck, engaged in conversation with the English captain. Meanwhile the boat's crews, armed with boarding pikes and pistols, quietly ascended the ship's gangway and suddenly assumed a threatening attitude, whereupon Captain Boardman, taking command of the ship, ordered her colors to be struck. His orders were obeyed and a few hours later the ship was safely moored at one of the wharves in Newburyport.
